Lee Van Atta On Way Home From Polar Expedition

Isabel and Mary Smith have a letter from Lee Van Atta, written on board U. S. S. Mount Olympus, Operation High Jump. Says Lee, former Carmelite, now with the Byrd Polar Expedition, "We are finally out of the polar climes and I for one am immeasurably happy about it. I expect to be back in California in the late spring and am looking forward to seeing my two favorite Carmelites, who used to feed unbelievable teas to a young Saturday Evening Post magnate. (Lee, as a little boy, sold the Post.) Mother and I will, of course, spend much of our time in Carmel, and it is probable we may move back to the old home."

Carmel Woods Meeting Called To Discuss Sewer Disposal Problem Apr. 21

Property owners of Carmel Woods will meet at city hall Monday, 7:30 p. m., to discuss with Sanitary Board officials and County Health Office representatives how best to handle the sewage disposal problem in their area.

The sewage system serving Carmel Woods has been inadequate for several years. The septic tanks, inadequate in size, overflow into the horse-trail canyon, so that the sewage is carried across Carmel Beach and into the bay.

A state law passed in January prohibits the disposal of sewage in the tidal waters off the coast of California, so that the county officials are now in a position to take action about a situation that has long been a source of complaint from those who would otherwise enjoy walking or riding on the trail that goes up a remarkably beautiful canyon.

Several weeks ago the county health department sent out letters notifying the Carmel Woods people that they are in violation of the state law and that they will have to take action to provide other means of sewage disposal. The health department officials recommended joining the Carmel Sanitary District system. The only other possibility is repairing their own system and providing an approved septic tank, believed to involve more expense than joining the Sanitary District.

The meeting is being called by the Carmel Woods Property Owners' Committee: Harry Downie, Dale B. Leidig, and H. I. Gable.

Welcome On The Mat And Marigolds By The Door For P. D.

When the police department moves into their new quarters in city yard at the end of the month, there will be concrete evidence from the street department that they are welcome neighbors.

For who do you suppose planted the French marigolds in the little garden strip on either side of the blue door of the new police building? Street Superintendent William Askew, who for years has reigned unchallenged as boss of city yard.

"Now why did he do that?" The Pine Cone inquired of Chief of Police Roy Fraties.

"Because he thinks well of us," said the chief, with the perfect confidence of one speaking of an old friend.

Mayor Godwin Comes Home Happy

Mayor Fred Godwin attended the Eleventh Congressional District Republican Committee meeting in San Luis Obispo last weekend and came back exuberant with gratitude. "We don't know how lucky we are! You don't know how bad off other people are. You have no idea!"

It appears that when the Republican committeemen of the four counties and their henchmen got together, a number of them just happened to be mayors, city councilmen or other city officials in addition to being Republicans. And in the informal periods when they relaxed from the weighty business of Guiding Party Policy, they fell to comparing civic notes, with a consequent dissemination of gloom and foreboding that sent Mayor Godwin home saying, "You don't know how lucky we are." Apparently, Mayor Godwin enjoyed a unique position in being a mayor without a civic debt, current or imminent, to weep about.

Carmel does not have to spend half a million dollars to put in a sanitary plant as do many other sea coast cities to comply with the new state law prohibiting dumping sewage in the tidal waters. Carmel already has a reduction plant that satisfies regulations. Carmel isn't getting ready to tighten its belt and vote a million dollar bond election to put up public buildings. At the end of this month, the city council, clerk, tax collector, and building inspector move into the new city hall, bought out of wartime savings. At the same time, the police will move into their new building, which has also been paid for out of surplus. Two new police cars were bought by the city a few months ago at no additional cost to the tax payers. Bonds for the new fire fighting equipment, which were voted several years ago, are to be let this month.

With almost every city in the state facing staggering financial

Chico Principal Accepts Contract As Superintendent

The trustees of the Carmel Unified School District announced Wednesday the choice of Stuart Mitchell as superintendent, effective July 1, on a four-year contract, at a salary of $6,300 a year, to replace Leo Harris who has resigned in order to become director of athletics at the University of Oregon.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL SCHOOL ISSUE NEXT WEEK

The next issue of The Pine Cone, the Annual School Edition, will be put out by the students of the Carmel schools according to a tradition of sixteen years standing. High school girls will phone you for needles next week; high school boys will call at the police offices, fire department and city hall for current news; both Sunset and high school students will write interviews, editorials, make linoleum cuts, and put forth every effort so this year's school issue will maintain the high standard established by the school issues of the past.

Bleachers For Ball Fans

The Carmel Unified School District Board voted $300 to provide material for bleachers to accommodate spectators at Sunset Field for the approaching night softball season.

The action was taken in compliance with a request made by The Carmel Pine Cone Softball Club in a letter addressed to the board. The Pine Cone team members offered to do the carpentry work if the board would furnish the material. The letter quoted Chief of Police Roy Fraties as saying that when the lights are on at Sunset Field at night, not a single youngster can be found on the streets. (The lights, paid for by local merchants, were installed last year by The Pine Cone Club, and during the past week have been increased in number and placed on higher poles until the field is one of the best lighted of its size in the state.)

The motion and second to grant the request were made by the two women members of the board, Mrs. Horace Dormody and Mrs. G. A. Moller. The other members made the most of the opportunity to express their appreciation for the service The Pine Cone Softball Club had done the community in assuming leadership and donating time and labor to provide a lighted field for community recreation.

Five local adult softball teams and four junior teams came into being last summer as a result of the lighting of Sunset Field. In addition, The Pine Cone Softball team met out of town teams on the local field, providing further spectator entertainment. There was a game going on every night at Sunset, but there was never enough room for the spectators to roost along the fence. The Pine Cone Club brought some bleachers down from the Forest Theatre to provide seating, but they were not adequate. The new bleachers, which will be removable, will seat about 200.

PADRE NINE WINS OVER GONZALES, 7 TO 4

The expected pitcher's duel between Lee Winslow and Smoky Newton materialized as expected for the first five innings of the Carmel-Gonzales baseball game, but in the sixth canto the Padres put together a series of walks, errors, and one base hit to tally five runs and sew up the game. Winslow allowed the Spartan sluggers three hits in the seven innings he toiled, while the Padres collected five blows off the offerings of Newton.

Carmel drew first blood in the fourth inning when they tallied two markers which were driven in by the potent bat of Don Day, Padre firstsacker. Bob Bell and Murrey Wight walked to open the inning and they both moved up on a passed ball where Day's single into right center shoved them across the plate. Gonzales came to life in the first of the fifth when they capitalized on three Carmel errors and three base hits to tally a trio of markers. This was the only inning in which the Spartans seriously threatened as Winslow held them well in check for the duration of the contest.

Gonzales presented a nifty keystone combination which turned in three double plays to snuff out Padre rallies. Shortstop Shepherd and Secondsacker Beacon provided the Spartans with a solid defensive infield.

Paul Warner and Don Day led the Carmel stickmen, each garnering two blows in three attempts. Don also drove in four runs to lead the locals in that department. Bob Bell proved valuable at the plate by drawing two walks and scoring two runs.

Winslow sent 11 of the visitors back to the bench via the strikeout route and took over the league leadership for strikeouts.

SHAMROCKS AND PILOTS ARE ABALONE LEAGUE WINNERS

Standings:	W	L
Shamrocks	4	1
Pilots	3	2
Giants	2	3
Tigers	1	4

Still showing marked superiority over their Abalone League opponents, the star-studded Shamrocks rolled over the last place Tigers last Sunday afternoon on the high school field. Jack Giles again sparked the Shamrocks by hurling five hit ball and connecting for three hits for the good of his team. With Gordy and Ky Miyamoto making it practically impossible to shove a ball through the defense the frantic Tigers had to rely on inside baseball to score their only two runs. The Shamrocks garnered four runs in the first frame and were never in danger from that point on.

Joe Nicholson took the mound for the Tigers but the Shamrocks greeted him like a long lost cousin and kept him in hot water for most of the game. Joe managed to solve the offerings of Giles for three hits to lead his team in the bat swinging department.

Short score:	R	H	E
Tigers	2	5	3
Shamrocks	9	10	1

Umpires: Andy Weimann and Doc Staniford.

In the windup game of the afternoon the Pilots took over undisputed possession of second place by conquering the Giants, 8 to 3. The Pilots packed too much punch at the plate and took advantage of five Giant miscues to tally five runs in the third inning to ice the contest. Sterling fielding play by Howard Timbers, Helen Ricketts, and Jim Hale helped to keep the Giants away from scoring territory.

Short score:	R	H	E
Giants	3	6	5
Pilots	8	9	2

Next Sunday the Giants will strive to even up the league when they tangle with the league leading Shamrocks at 1:30. At 2:30 the deeply mired Tigers take on the second place Pilots. The Tigers have been strengthened for this fray and could easily upset the confident Pilots.

Edward George In Song Recital At St. Mary's In P. G.

Edward George, who took the lead in the Golden Bough Players' production of The Male Animal a few weeks ago, will be presented in a song recital under the auspices of the Rector's Guild of St. Mary's - by - the - Sea Episcopal Church, in Pacific Grove, at 8 p. m., Tuesday, April 22. He will be accompanied by Edward C. Hopkins, and the program will include both classical and popular numbers. The public is invited to attend without charge but a silver collection will be made. The ladies of the Guild will serve refreshments at the reception to follow.

Mr. Hopkins, who has been directing Mr. George's musical education, speaks very highly of the tenor and is enthusiastic about his future.

Sport Notes

Packing too much strength in the field events, the Pacific Grove cindermen won about as they pleased from the outmanned Padres. The score of the Varsity meet was Pacific Grove 71, Carmel 42. The Breaker Babes piled up 82 markers while the Carmel Lights had to be content with 31.

Individual performances by Carmel boys were heartening to Padre supporters and will practically assure the local school of some places in the CCAL meet on May 10th. Bob Barry turned in the best half mile race of the year when he toured the two laps in 2:02. Paul Warner skipped over the high hurdles to win handily in 16.5. In the mile, Bill Hodgson and Howard DeAmaral ran one-two to pick up a valuable number of points for the Carmel cause. Dick Gargiulo won the 220 and ran second in the century dash to pick up 8 points. Bill Cross took second in the pole vault and third in the 100 yard dash.

In the lightweight division, Don Shearn and Legare McNeill were the only performers to pick up first places. Don won the 75 yard dash and Legare won the 120 yard low sticks.

The next meet for the Padres will be the Monterey Relays tonight at the Monterey Stadium. Schools represented will be: Pacific Grove, Monterey, King City, Gonzales, Salinas, and Carmel.

Carl W. Cherry

Carl W. Cherry, well known inventor whose name has been indelibly associated with the airplane industry since his introduction of the revolutionary Cherry Rivet several years before the war, died Sunday, April 13, at his home at Guadalupe and Fourth, after a long illness.

A native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he was 46 years old and had lived in Carmel for the past 23 years with his wife, Jeanne d'Orge, the artist, devoting most of his time to his workshop.

Shortly before the end of the war he perfected a portable anti-burn spray for the use of men on battlefields, minesweepers and other places where electricity was unavailable. Prior to this invention emergency burn treatment was dependent on electricity and many lives were lost due to the lack of a substitute. As soon as Carl Cherry, whose interests were always predominantly humanitarian, heard of this critical situation, he got to work on the new anti-burn spray. Its use in the event of another war will save thousands of lives and prevent serious injuries and disfigurements.

The Cherry Rivet, manufactured by the Cherry Rivet Company of Los Angeles, radically affected the entire airplane industry when it replaced older and clumsier mechanisms and proved a tremendous timesaver during the war when speed was essential to production.

Although Carl Cherry lived quietly in Carmel, his loss is felt deeply by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who knew his never-failing kindness and understanding, and his steady, unassuming integrity of spirit. He leaves his wife, Jeanne d'Orge, whose paintings have been exhibited in New York as well as on the Monterey Peninsula, and his mother, Mrs. C. W. Thatcher, of Carmel. Private services were held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the T. A. Dorney Funeral Chapel.

Parents Turn Thumbs Down On North School Site

A contingent of eight parents with P. T. A. President Elizabeth Cass as spokesman told the Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees that they were dissatisfied with the site for the north side elementary school on the grounds that the approaches are along truck routes, streets inadequately paved and without paths or sidewalks, constituting a hazard to the safety of youngsters on their way to and from school.

They also expressed the opinion that the site was not in the best location to serve future growth of the community.

The board members admitted that the site, which is on Dolores between First and Vista, is not ideal, but they said that the committee had spent two months looking over the area and they thought it was the best available. They suggested that the parents form a committee, study the area and if they could find a more desirable site to report back to the board, which expressed the opinion that the present site could be sold for a profit.

Parents stated that the board could expect a delegation from the parents in the south side area shortly for some of them had said at a recent P. T. A. meeting that they were not satisfied with the site the board is negotiating for in the Mission tract.

In connection with the north site, the board suggested that the city council could take measures to widen certain streets, put in foot paths and road signs to reduce the traffic hazards.

Citizens protesting the choice of the north site were: Mrs. Elizabeth Cass, Mrs. Constance Bestor, Mrs. Bert Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leavitt, Mrs. Julian von Meier, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hart. Mrs. Cass has appointed Mr. Leavitt to head a committee to investigate the possibility of buying a more satisfactory site.

Abinante Opens Carmel Branch

Today and tomorrow, in the rear of the Lucky Boy Market building on Ocean Avenue, there will be a grand opening of the Carmel branch of Abinante's Monterey Music store. Frank Wilkinson, the manager, will be on duty to meet visitors and to present each one with a drawing ticket that may win one of the many prizes offered in celebration. Not only a radio, a pressure cooker, an electric iron and a coffe maker will be given away at the Saturday evening drawing, but also seven merchandise orders and a number of grocery gifts from the Lucky Boy Market. It is not necessary to be present for the drawing, but tickets will be given only to those who arrive in person to inspect the quarters of the new branch.

Mr. Wilkinson was a Carmel resident before the war, and now that he has been separated from the service, he has returned permanently. He was chosen for this position because of his extensive experience with both musical and electrical merchandise.

University of California with the class of '25, earned his Master's degree in 1940, and is now candidate for a doctorate in education. His field is English, history and philosophy, and he has also taught Spanish, journalism and social studies. He has secondary teaching and unlimited administration credentials.

For twelve years he was associated with the Westwood Schools in Lassen County, the last five years as superintendent of the Westwood Unified School District. During the past two years he has been principal of the Chico High School.

Mr. Mitchell is 44 years old and will make his home in Carmel with his wife and two children before July 1. He is interested in athletics, and while at Westwood he built a practice ski run, which was used by the community as well as the students. He has always taken part in civic as well as professional activities, and at present is president of the Secondary School Principals' Association, a member of the County Board of Education, and also a member of the County Post War Planning Commission. He was on the staff of the Sprayer State Survey. His hobby is photography and amateur motion picture making. One of his motion pictures on teaching English is now being circulated by four universities and will be distributed in many schools. One summer he was delegated to Teachers College at Columbia University in order to organize a curriculum and administrative set-up for use at Westwood.

One of the considerations which influenced the board when Mr. Mitchell's appointment was first discussed is that he has had experience in Westwood in following through a school building program, and can therefore capably face the work before the Carmel schools during the next four years while the new buildings are being erected here.

BREWSIE TALKS TO CLASS

Mrs. Elston New P.T.A. President

It was planned to hold election for officers of the Carmel Parent Teachers Association next month but the members of the PTA in the April meeting held last Tuesday at 3:00 p. m. in the lunch room of Sunset School voted to accept the suggestions of the nominating committee without any additions, thus actually electing the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. Thomas Elston, president; Mrs. Mark Raggett, vice-president; Mrs. Ed Sullivan, treasurer; Mrs. Eugene Scheffer, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Martin, corresponding secetary.

During the business meeting there was a discussion about the proposed sites for the new schools north and south of Ocean Avenue and the final opinion of the group was that concerned mothers should carry their complaints and comments directly to the school board.

Mrs. Florence Lockwood of the school faculty announced the Junior Red Cross drive to collect comic books, felt and yarn scraps for their Christmas projects, and Mr. Hull spoke briefly on the need for public support of Senate Bill 472 which is designed to equalize educational opportunities throughout the country. He invited the audience to attend the report on UNESCO Sunday evening by Mrs. Henry Potter Russell.

After the business session, Mrs. Elizabeth Cass, president, turned the meeting over to Mr. Hull who announced that some twenty per cent of Sunset's student body would take part in the afternoon program.

First the two first grades of Miss Jean McLaughlin and Mrs. Constance McCausland presented a dramatic operatic version of Curlylocks and the Three Bears. The well trained chorus sang delightfully while Laurel Martin as Mama Bear, Michael Raggett as Papa Bear, Michael Elson as Baby Bear, Judy Wilkinson as Curlylocks and Suzanne Pilot as the announcer presented the drama. Other first grade children served beautifully as flowers and trees, which were evidently Monterey Cypress.

The fifth grade students of Mrs. Beatrice Rea gave a demonstration of finger painting to a background of music and made nearly every parent there itch to get her hands in the wonderful colored material. Pat Chedester, Ruth Harrington, Kurt von Meier, Skipper Lloyd, Penny Bestor, Gay Masten, Joan Leslie and Christine Conley gave the demonstration.

The musical selections presented by the music students of Miss Jean Stanbridge concluded the program. The glee club sang Erie Canal and Oh, California! and the orchestra played the Volga Boatman and the march movement from Brahms' First Symphony. Richard Tocher played a violin solo, Barcarolle, from the Tales of Hoffman. The glee club closed the program with the singing of O God Beneath thy Mighty Hand.

Dorita-Valero Recital April 19

The exciting Spanish and Flamenco dance team, Dorita and Valero, will be presented in a recital in the Sunset School auditorium here tomorrow night, April 19. The beautiful Dorita, born in Valencia, met Valero, born in Malaga, in the town of Valencia, Spain, when the two were but 15 years old. Both were dancing at the time, each with a different company. Introduced at a party, they teamed up and have been dance partners ever since.

Tomorrow night's program includes Suguidillas, to music of Albeniz; Asturias, to music of Albeniz; Zapateado, to music of Granados; Cordoba, to music of Albeniz; Triana, Gypsy dance to music of Mostazo; Los Cuatros Muleros, Popular; Serenata, to music of Malats; Bulerias y Sevillanas, Popular; Ferruca, danced by Valero to guitar played by Dorita; Puerta de Tierra, Albeniz, danced by Dorita; Jota Aragonesa, Popular.

UNESCO Speaker Sunday Night At Sunset Auditorium

Mrs. Henry Potter Russell's talk on her experiences with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which was originally planned for next Sunday afternoon, has been changed and will take place Sunday evening, April 20, at 8 o'clock, in Sunset Auditorium. The student officers of the Carmel High School will conduct the meeting and the Girls' Chorus, under the direction of John Farr, will open it with a couple of musical selections. Special invitations have been sent to the student officers of other Peninsula high schools.

Leo Harris, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, will greet the visitors, and Miss Peggy Riker, student commissioner of community matters, will present the distinguished speaker. After a thirty minute speech Mrs. Russell will invite questions from the floor and will endeavor to give as personal a picture as possible of the difficulties that must be overcome in cultural matters before the ideal One World can be attained. The business and professional clubs of the county will be well represented in the audience, and the public is invited to attend.

YOU'RE practically that, of course, the minute you take over any new 1947 Buick. Never before has any automobile so completely won the country by its beauty – so clearly defined the shape of cars to come.

But really to take the stage and hold it – to cut a dashing figure in the smartest of smart company –

It is without question the most wanted version of America's most wanted car.

It's wanted for the freedom that's yours when its handy control swings back the top – and the sky becomes your roof and the birds your travel mates.

It's wanted for the lift and surge of its satiny straight-eight Fireball power plant, master of every grade and hill, monarch of the farthest horizon.

It's wanted for bigness, and the deep comfort of low-set, cushiony seats – wanted for the floating ease of soft all-coil springing, and the sure-footed stride of a car that's big enough and brawny enough for its job.

It's wanted for styling that already has set the pattern for years to come – it's wanted for fun, for adventure, and for year-round, all-round full family use.

The demand for it? Great, of course. The supply? Mounting as fast as Buick's beaver-busy production staff can free up the supply of the fine materials that go into it.

So with patience, one can be yours. With patience, that is – and the foresight to get your order in now.

A FINGER TOUCH – and the door window runs up or down automatically. Other handy controls raise or lower the top and adjust the front seat.

Hi Chatter

By MARY GREGORY

Dinner parties seem to have become the social activity for the month as far as the language clubs are concerned, for both the French and the Spanish clubs have had dinners this week, and the Latin club plans to have a Roman banquet in the near future.

Tuesday evening the 25 members of the French club, with their sponsor, Mrs. Elise Beaton, gathered at the home of Rut Van Niell for a typical French meal. President of the club Thelma Malvido was in charge of arrangements, although each girl contributed to the meal, and several girls also prepared some entertainment for afterwards.

Thursday afternoon in the homemaking department of the high school the Spanish club had a Spanish dinner, which included enchiladas, tamales, and tortillas. The girls of the club were in charge of fixing the food, while the boys were responsible for the clean-up. Mr. Donald Craig and President Bob Rissel were the managers.

The hard-fighting girls' All-Star team went down before a superior (they were taller!) faculty team Tuesday noon in an exciting volleyball game. Although the final score stood 23-11, the girls can be proud, not only of having played a good game, but of having been chosen, from among all the girls in school, to be on the team. The girls thus honored were: Joanne Gorham (honorary captain), Joan Carr, Sue Dekker, Sue Douglas, Pat Bacon, Ann Whitaker, Edelyn Cory, Joan Dillingham, Jackie Briggs, Rose Marie Krupocki, and Dorothy Goulart. Faculty members were: Miss Dorothy Wright, Miss Faith Conklin, Leo Harris, Donald Craig, Chuck Dawson, and Lloyd Miller.

King City has invited Carmel and Watsonville girls over tomorrow for a Sports Day of volleyball, softball, and badminton. Forty Carmel girls will join the fun, which will also include lunch and entertainment, and possibly swimming in the afternoon. Commissioner of Girls' Athletics Carmelita Fortier is in charge of the trip, with Miss Faith Conklin.

Carmelita has also been busy planning a badminton mixed doubles tournament, which will start next Monday. Games will be played during noon hours, and the winners should be known in about three weeks.

The California Algebra Aptitude test was given Tuesday to eighth graders, including those from the local parochial schools, to determine whether or not they should take algebra in their freshman year. Those receiving low scores on the test will be counseled to take a year of preparatory math before starting algebra.

F. D. IS NEIGHBORLY

On Tuesday morning at 7:45 there was one long blast of the fire whistle in order to call the volunteers to quarters, because the Monterey fire department needed help. While all the Monterey engines were on the waterfront putting out a fire on a Navy boat, eight Carmel men and one engine went over the hill to stand by in Monterey, and eleven men stayed on duty in Carmel with the second engine. During the period of emergency there were no calls in Carmel.

CLASS DISBANDS

Last Friday afternoon nine members of the class in the literature of applied psychology met in the library of Sunset School and after a report from Mrs. Louis B. Sawyer on Shoemaker's book, How to Help Other People, adjourned until next fall, when it is expected that new books will be available for their continued study.

Stephanie Shehatovich Concert

By Grace Howden

American pianist, Stephanie Shehatovich, renowned since the age of eleven for her playing in concert, electrified a capacity audience of members and friends of the Musical Art Club last Sunday evening at the Carmel Art Gallery.

Miss Shehatovich had selected a most beautifully varied program which sacrificed none of our appreciation of its technical skill because of the melodious beauty of its compositions.

Beginning with the ancient music of Scarlatti and Bach, the program progressed through Cesar Franck and Debussy to the modern music of Scriabine and Popoff in the first half, returning in the second half to the music of Schumann and Chopin.

The Bach Sonatina from the Cantata, God's Time Is the Best, played with such reverent adoration, seemed like a prayer asking for the required inspiration and acumen for the task at hand.

The Cesar Franck Prelude, Chorale and Fugue, instantaneously established that magic communion of the spirit through the composer, the performer and the instrument, making them one in the expression of the religious fervor of the composer. This was the highlight of the evening, in the estimation of this reviewer.

Poeme, Vers la Flamme, by the modern composer, Scriabine, was very well received, being less dissonant and more rhythmical than most modernistic composition.

The three Mary Stars of Villa-Lobos twinkled so merrily under the delicate and sprightly touch of the artist that no title would have been necessary.

Large Suite, Opus 6 by the modern, Popoff, proved to be the dramatic climax of the program, evoking, as it did, the tremendous power, dynamic intensity and technical genius of the artist. Of the four Movements, the extremely descriptive Chorus was the most beautiful. Obviously, the construction of this work of almost orchestral dimension demanded nothing short of the utmost in performance. Applause came in waves after this masterly presentation of a modern composition, startling in its impact—applause and admiration for the achievement of the artist—divided opinion as to the enjoyment of the composition, which, no doubt would be better received in a large auditorium. It seems incredible that one of such diminutive stature can develop such power and all-embracing command of the keyboard.

The second part of the program was devoted to the well-loved and singing music of Schumann in Scenes from Childhood, and to Chopin's compositions to which we are indebted for the additional two octaves of the modern piano. This is one secret of the popularity of Chopin both to the audience and to the performer, as the entire length of the keyboard is in play much of the time.

The modest, informal manner of Miss Shehatovich bespeaks the highly inspirational and intellectual ideals with which she approaches her art. She is one of the ardent proponents of the rapidly developing school of thought which believes it is more important to encourage music educators than concert performers — educators who will bring the ministry of music to the neglected and culture-starved communities of the world, giving them the joy of making their own music. (As this reviewer has observed before, music can be a creator of world peace.)

The Carmel Art Gallery, with its colorful paintings by celebrated artists, lends a cheerful and altogether charming environment for the presentation of music of the highest order. It is fitting that the arts should welcome so harmonious a blending. The beauty of the current showing of pictures added greatly to the pleasure of the social hour following the program when many new members were welcomed by the Musical Art Club.

Jo Mora, Carmel artist and sculptor, has been working for two years on a diorama which is to be installed within the next two months in Sutter's Fort Historical Museum, Sacramento.

The diorama is a series of paintings depicting the arrival of Fremont and Kit Carson and their men at Sutter's Fort, in 1844. Captain Sutter is shown welcoming Fremont and the famous scout. There are some twenty figures—trappers, miners and assorted frontiersmen represented. Carroll D. Hall, curator of the museum, has just been down consulting Mr. Mora on the installation.

M. for the purchase of $10,000 principal amount of bonds of said City, designated City of Carmel-by-the-Sea Municipal Improvement Bonds, Issue of 1942, more particularly described below:

Bidders must specify the rate of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders will be permitted to bid different rates of interest and to split rates irrespective of the maturities of said bonds. The interest rates stated in the bid must be in a multiple of one-quarter of one percent per annum, payable semi-annually.

MATURITIES: Said bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order, from lower to higher, $1,000 on June 15 in each of the years 1948 to 1957, both inclusive.

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Office of the Treasurer of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by the City. Such bonds are registerable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds are authorized for the purpose of acquiring fire fighting equipment for the Fire Department of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, including one completely equipped motor driven fire engine pumper.

The lowest net interest cost shall be computed between the dates aforesaid according to standard bond interest tables. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The City of Carmel-by-the-Sea reserves the right, in its discretion, to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

The City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals; provided that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given to the City Council notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal. Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the City Treasurer in Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, as soon as practicable. All bids must be unconditional and together with bidder's check must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and endorsed "Proposal for City of Carmel-by-the-Sea Municipal Improvement Bonds, Issue of 1942." With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $1,000, drawn on a bank or trust company authroized to transact and transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the City Treasurer of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea to secure the City from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the City on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the City. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon the deposit made by any successful bidder.

The Word That Applies To Every Phase Of French Life And Haunts One Like A Theme Song Is Confusion

In the following article, Malcolm Moulder, who recently returned to Carmel from six months in Paris with French Radio, has sketched for The Pine Cone his observations of French politics, night clubs, music, and the theatre. He is a San Francisco radio man, who spent 1940-41 as a resident of Carmel, and served with the O. W. I. during the war.

By MALCOLM MOULDER

A great deal has been written about political, financial and social conditions in Europe. Articles have appeared in the papers and magazines by on-the-spot correspondents. Reports have been broadcast over the radio by expert commentators, who have been over there themselves recently, or who have first hand reports from people who are in the know. And yet the average American is still unaware of what is really going on in England, France, Switzerland and Italy.

The reason for this is that a true picture of the European situation is almost impossible to convey to the American people. Things have changed, we all know that, and yet the why and wherefore is something so intangible that you have to go over and see for yourself before believing. I have just come back from France where I spent six months in Paris, and after talking to people in the East and back here in California, I realize how far apart the two continents are in their understanding of each other. The airplane has cut down the physical and geographical distance, but they are still just as far from one another in the realm of thought and knowledge of what the other is doing, thinking and striving for. And this goes for both Europe and the United States. It is a bilateral condition that has always existed and will take years to change.

The minute I set foot on the pavement of the Gare St. Lazare, I sensed the change; not just a change resulting from five years of war and four years of occupation, but something in the character and mentality of the French people was different. Having lived there for a number of years before the war, it was quite a shock to find myself a comparative stranger in a country where I had been thoroughly at home. It was like coming back to your own home after a long absence and finding the house painted a different color, the furniture moved around, and the family speaking a different language.

The word that applies to almost every phase of French life and that haunts one like a theme song is: confusion. The French have never been noted for their powers of organization, and so one expects a certain amount of disorder, but now it is confusion at every turn. As soon as the porter took my bags at the station it began, and lasted until I walked up the gangplank of the SS America to come home. French politics, as we all know, have always been difficult to understand. Now they have reached the point where one wonders how they will ever untangle the innumerable strings that are being pulled in every direction. There are four political parties, none of whose leaders know what they want, with the exception of Maurice Thorez, the Communist, who wants what the other three don't. He is the only strong man in the present government. In fact, with the exception of General de Gaulle, he is the only strong man in France today. As a result, the other three parties pursue a thoroughly negative policy. Instead of thinking in terms of what should be done and following a constructive formula, all their efforts are centered on preventing the strong man from getting his way. Hence confusion and a lack of objective.

Vincent Auriol, the President of the Republic and Paul Ramadier, the Prime Minister, are good men. Both of them have an excellent political record before and during the last war, but their hands are tied because of the large number of Communists in high government posts. When they appear on the screen, French audiences go into convulsions, and yet they are the active heads of their government. The only two men who command the respect of the French people today are Leon Blum, who is too old and too sick to be of any real value, and General de Gaulle, who has too many personal enemies and is not enough of a politician successfully to rule with an iron hand as head of a government made up of professional politicians. He is a symbol, as was Joan of Arc, but unfortunately France needs more than a symbol. She needs a whip and a strong arm to crack it with.

Next to the political hurdle, the greatest problem in France right now is the franc, and its sinister shadow, the black market. French money outside France is practically worthless. In Switzerland to get one Swiss franc you have to lay down a hundred French francs, and yet the official rate is 18 to 1. If you happen to bring anything above a hundred franc note, the Swiss just won't change it.

The franc in relation to the dollar is quoted officially at 120, and yet the "money changers" that buzz like flies between the American Express Company and the U. S. Lines offered me 350 francs for a dollar bill about two months ago. Since Leon Blum decreed the 5% cut in prices, the franc got a psychological shot in the arm, and was quoted at 250 when I left a month ago, which is still double the offical rate. So you don't know where you stand, anymore than the French government knows where the franc is going. Never a day that the French papers don't carry headlines that read: "Can the franc be saved?", "What is to become of the franc?" Nobody knows, and the general public seems to care very little, except for the black marketeers, who want it to go down and do everything in their power to make it drop.

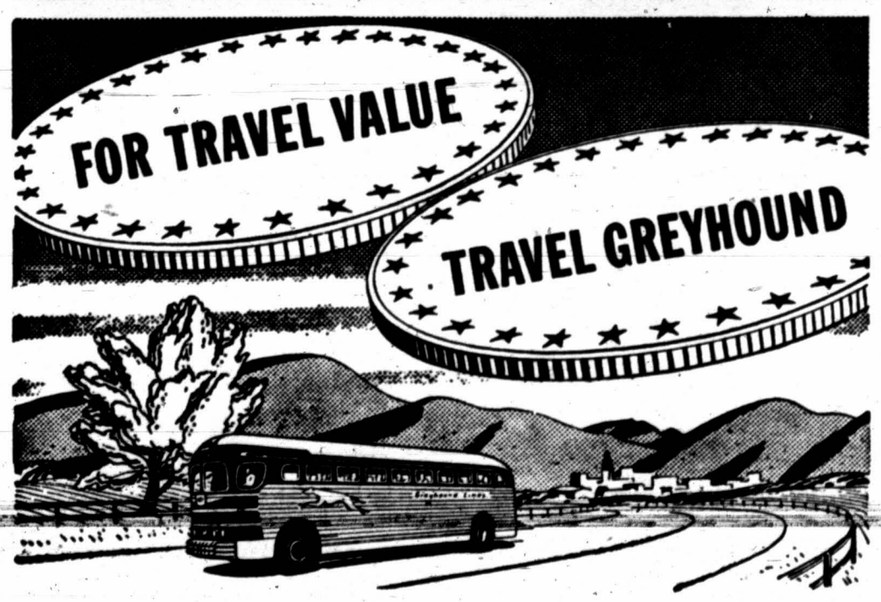

And now to the more light-hearted and gayer side of Paris, the Paris that interests most foreigners and particularly Americans. What used to be "gay Paree" is still gay on the surface, and yet something has died; an intangible something, impossible to describe. You just cannot put your finger on one particular thing, and yet to those who knew Paris before the war, the bird has lost its plumage. The big luxury hotels are full, well heated and serve excellent food, but the service and the attitude of the help has changed. Maybe that is one of the intangible somethings that makes Paris different. The expensive restaurants such as Maxim's, Lapeyrouse, Tour d'Argent serve a 2000 franc dinner that equals anything they put out before the war, but who wants to pay $16 a head for a meal? I had dinner one night at Maxim's. There were four of us and we ordered prawns. After cleaning up the dish we found out when the bill came that the prawns cost 100 francs (80 cents) a piece. We had 2400 francs' worth of prawns that evening, enough to give even Pierpont Morgan indigestion. The theaters and concerts are in full swing, and for $1.50 you can see Hamlet, Mourning Becomes Electra, Of Mice and Men, You Can't Take it With You, and a score of other French versions of American plays. There are quite a number of French revivals and a sprinkling of originals. Sartre and Cocteau are the leaders in the original field, and they each have three plays running. The Eagle With Two Heads is the Cocteau opus that is the most talked about, while Sartre has a play called The Respectful Prostitute dealing with the negro problem in these United States. Extremely feeble but with such a "strong" title the story is of little importance.

Concerts and lectures at the Sorbonne are going full blast. On Sunday there are four topnotch concerts to choose from, and all the greatest names in music seem to converge on Paris. During the big UNESCO conference there were two and sometimes three star recitals the same evening, and you had to choose. One of the most amusing recitals was a comeback concert by Alfred Cortot, who was a dyed-in-the-wool collaborationist during the occupation, and barred from public appearances for two years. His first concert was a sensation. There were some of the boys in the audience who were pro-Cortot (art above politics department) and some were anti-Cortot, so the minute he appeared on the stage the fireworks started, and never let up. He was never able to play one piece through, but it was an interesting experience, to say the least.

In the realm of entertainment, however, the night club reigns supreme. The old standbys, Chez Florence, Casanova, Sheherazade, are in full swing, while north of the Champs Elysees a flock of pocket-sized cabarets have sprouted up like mushrooms in the fertile and cashy terrain of that district known as "GI Land." In most of these pint-sized establishments you can sip a thimbleful of cognac in exchange for a package of cigarettes. Price: 200 francs ($1.60). The joint that goes to the head of the class is Big Ben, presided over by a zoot-suited English speaking interior decorator, who greets you like Jim Farley and seems to have more fun in his place than most of his customers. Inside, you will have to elbow your way through a cordon of peroxide blondes to a bar, where the bartender will give you a slug of something in a bottle in return for 200 francs. Through the smoky haze, redolent of dime store perfume, a band is dimly discernible, making noise for the amusement of groggy black market operators and their sharp-eyed molls. The big Paris songster, Yves Montand, drools there nightly. He is supposed to be the French Sinatra, only cuter, but for my money his boyish contortions and carefully tousled hair induce a sensation akin to being in a small boat on a rolling sea.

The last time I saw Paris that was the picture.

Shoulberg Prints And Slides Exhibited

Next week there will continue a showing of silk screen prints of the oil paintings of the Philadelphia painter, Harry Shoulberg, in the galleries of the Carmel Booksellers at Fifth and Mission. Mr. Shoulberg's work has been exhibited in many of the museums of the country, including the Carnegie National, American Color Print Society, National Academy of Design, San Francisco Museum, and Library of Congress. Several originals are in the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Next Monday evening at Miss Leota Tucker's class in photography Miss Florence Kaplan of New York will show her Kodachrome slides of Shoulberg's original oil paintings, and anyone interested is invited to attend. Discussion will be held regarding the most recent books on the technique of photography, which John Harley will present for inspection.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Great Bunch –Those Ex-G.I.'s

Willie Wells and a bunch of the boys from our town went to Pound Ridge Saturday to a reunion of their old regiment.

There were about two hundred and fifty boys who came from miles around to a good old feast in Farmer Collins' barn. I expect they seemed a lot different to each other out of uniform. But they had a great time, spinning yarns, drinking beer, and talking over the old times in South Africa and Italy and the Aleutians.

I went over to cover the meeting for the Clarion, and one thing that sure impressed me was the good behavior of those boys—their preference for a moderate beverage like beer—their friendly spirit.

From where I sit, our ex-G.I.'s are making as good a showing in peacetime as they made during the war. And they're setting a mighty good example to the rest of us—in tolerance, and moderation, and good fellowship.

OUR NEW NEIGHBORS

A hundred years ago the greatest westward movement in history began . . . only a trickle at first, people began to flow into California in scattered numbers, by sailing vessel and prairie schooner. Today this human stream has become a mighty flood, and over the mountain passes people surge by thousands, in motor cars, in stream-lined buses and railroad trains, and over the peaks in giant planes, (hardly any around The Horn).

These people are our new neighbors. We welcome them and express the hope that they, too, will grow to love this favored land.

Their coming is a challenge which we cheerfully accept. To provide service for everyone is not an easy task, these days of material shortages, but step by step we are catching up, and in due time will be abreast of California's astounding growth.

WHO SAID THE DEL MONTE FOREST WAS A SUBURB OF CARMEL, MONTEREY AND PACIFIC GROVE?

Frankly, it doesn't matter, because the statement is quite true! Many people live and play inside the Forest and go every day (or almost every day) to their businesses in Monterey, Carmel and Pacific Grove.

They live in the Forest because most people down here like the "feel" of country, they love the unsurpassing beauty, peace and charm of the region; they like the protection that the toll gates afford; the hundreds of miles of private roads and trails, the beaches, the parks and every facility for sports. Also, you know, residents of the Forest have preferential rates on the golf course and receive preference both in membership and in dues at the Racquet Club and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

No wonder, then, that long time residents of Pacific Grove, of Monterey and of Carmel are more and more moving to the Del Monte Forest to live. Land values are modest, choice sites as low as $1,500, and all the essential utilities are supplied.

Either see your broker or call Monterey 3111 today and ask for the "Real Estate Office." They will see to it that a representative calls at once and shows you the land. There's no obligation of course.

Whether it's navy blue nylon, gunmetal silk, white nylon, lisle, cotton, rayon, or just a pair of gossamer nylons wit han iridescense like a starling's wing, you'll doubtless find it in THE STOCKING SHOP in the Court of the Golden Bough on Ocean Avenue opposite the Pine Inn. It's a cradle to arm chair stocking service they offer there—tiny scalloped socks for the newest, smallest feet, up to solid lisle or rayon for your sixtieth year in Carmel.

If you're contemplating a long drive down the coast or even if you're facing the intricacies of driving in Carmel you might take your car radio down to RADIO SERVICE BY BAYARD on Sixth near Dolores for general rehabilitation. When you go in you'll find BAYARD has the neatest and most compact of record changers with built-in amplifiers—a little machine complete in itself — and speaking of amplifiers, BAYARD is a trained specialist in installing and repairing high fidelity amplifiers.

THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP on Ocean Avenue between Dolores and San Carlos has a wonderful collection of reproductions and prints, some matted, some loose and some portfolioed. A volume on Modigliani, dated 1929 from Paris, is a collector's item, containing reproductions of his work and his biography. There's a most lavish portfolio from Russia with reproductions of the work of 35 of the modern French painters and several Christmas issues of L'Illustration. Among the single prints are many from the old Vanity Fair and there's a bound volume of Sunday supplements from Harper's Weekly from 1872 with copious illustrations by Gustave Dore.

The name of Evyan Perfumers—new this week at FORTIER'S on Ocean at Dolores—may not be new to you but it is to me—and Evyan's perfume called Gay Diversion is the most original and pleasing scent to come my way in a long time. There's Gay Diversion, White Shoulders and Menace, all packaged in satin and lace and compounded in France of whatever mysterious ingredients are needed to give them subtle strength and lasting beauty. There're colognes in these scents, too.

As good as they are beautiful are the wooden trays in GUMP'S on Dolores. The trays are light and strong and treated to be resistant to all beverage stains and their only decoration is the fine grain of the wood, beautifully finished. Walnut, dark or bleached, bleached oak and other woods make the trays and they're molded to shape to give them added strength.

The sheer magnificence of the pure silk handmade lingerie from Italy in THE SILVER THIMBLE on Dolores must have been created with a silver thimble on elfin fingers. Such tiny tucks, such delicate embroidery, such miniature scallops are worthy of a regal trousseau. In pink, white or blue come matching gowns, slips and pants in the finest silk, with chiffon insets embroidered with unbelievable delicacy. There's a blue gown with a broad shawl collar of tiny pin tucks and a chiffon bosom and a gown of oyster white silk chiffon which must be seen to be believed.

An answer to the weary prayers of Valley dwellers who've had to journey down to the Peninsula for nails and bolts and bits is coming soon with the opening of BEALL HARDWARE'S VALLEY EXTENSION, which will be located in Las Laurelles Village up the Valley. At the moment the BEALL HARDWARE COMPANY meets hardware needs on Alvarado street in Monterey but soon the new Valley store will serve the public there, too, with a stock including some 16,000 items — hardware, garden supplies, and innumerable sundries.

For pleasing a small girl you should try a mint whirl sucker from THE HOUSE OF HANSEL AND GRETEL on Ocean Avenue. Such a sucker will cost you a dime and last a long time, and if it's an older gal you'd please try HANSEL AND GRETEL'S hand-dipped chocolates filled with maple, almond, pineapple or a wonderful raspberry cream for $1.50 a pound. Then gumdrops at HANSEL AND GRETEL come in piquant natural fruit flavors for .80 a pound. All the candy will be packed for you in the pleasing witch's house box characteristic of HANSEL AND GRETEL.

Now may we plan a luncheon at ANGELO'S on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey. First we'll order the sun, that's necessary for balcony eating, but if the fog comes in, we'll eat around the fire. Then a crabmeat cocktail with a chef's special sauce well accented with horseradish, to be followed by lobster casserole, with a Spanish sauce having a letter green pepper here and a little oreganos there and browned bread crumbs all over. A mixed green salad keeps it company with a large basket of French bread on speaking terms with garlic. And for dessert there's Spumoni. Now Spumoni is a dish made specially for ANGELO'S—it's ice cream filled with nuts, cherries, glaced fruits and rum to a state of delectation.

We've been hearing about Swedish crystal in THE VAGABOND'S CORNER for months and now it has arrived, and well worth waiting for it is. The Swedish crystal decanters have a shining air of classic elegance about them. There are tiny French cordial glasses, too, and several pieces of Bohemian crystal etched in fragile and delicate designs with gold. These are collectors' items, to be set in a case and admired, but they're not very expensive, and what a sparkle they'd put in wine!

After much spring cleaning, the little leather shop on Dolores near Seventh, which used to be called Ardees Leather Shop and is now to be called THE LITTLE LEATHER SHOP, is re-opening today, and William and Germaine Ellis, the owners, are there to wait on you and help with leather problems. Among many things—practically anything—made of leather you'll find Ganson's fine leather bags made of California saddle leather.

It's inevitable and wonderful but with April, May, and June, come parties everywhere for which every young girl wants a long dress. Whether she's just newly in high school or in college you'll find some delightful evening dresses for her in THE COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP on Alvarado Street in Monterey. There are dresses of dotted swiss with great full skirts and ruffles and bows, and dresses of crisp pique and marquisette and net and jersey. The sizes include 9 to 20, the prices run from $14.95 to $29.95, and the dresses are cool and crisp and sweet and light.

At a great reduction you can now buy a wonderful little unit called the Breakfaster from THE McDONALD REFRIGERATION COMPANY on Fremont Street in Monterey. The Breakfaster costs only $9.75 now, and its usefulness is all out of proportion to its size and cost. It is small and compact, but it has a plate on top for making coffee or frying things and a grill inside for grilling bacon or sandwiches. Its actually a complete little stove to plug in anywhere to fix a simple meal.

The quest for cool summer clothes led into THE CARMEL DRESS SHOP on Ocean at Dolores, and there we found what we were looking for. There's a dress with a button-down front and a set-in belt, short sleeves and a becoming neckline all of a fine pique in navy or red and a price tag that says only $17.95. There's a most delicate chambray in soft hue, with tatting edging the sleeves, and eyelet embroidery on the bodice for only $12.95, and a spun rayon in bright yellow with confetti coin dots embroidered on the shoulders and a fly front for the same price and in junior sizes, 11 to 14.

Very moving and thought-provoking readings from the book, Portrait of a Pilgrim, by Buell Gallagher, a study of the Christian's attitude toward race relations in this country, were given by Mrs. Nettie Rowe at the Wayfarer Circle on Tuesday afternoon. Readings from the book will be completed at the May meeting. Mrs. D. E. Nixon reported on the address given before a meeting in San Jose recently by Mrs. Harper Sibley, national president of the United Council of Church Women. A memorial poem to Dr. James E. Crowther, written by Miss Fanny Reeves, was read by Mrs. Tom Douglas. A social half hour with tea concluded the afternoon's program and business, with Mrs. Harvey Braunton and Mrs. Ada McGee at the tea table. Mrs. J. M. Southwell, Jr., was chairman for the tea.

Godwins Going To Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Godwin will sail May 21 from New Orleans on the Stella Polaris. Their itinerary is fascinating, taking them first to Havana, Haiti, and San Thomas, and from there to the Madeira Islands, on to Casa Blanca, Gibraltar, Lisbon, and Le Havre. They go through the Kiel Canal to Copenhagen, to Gothenburg, Sweden, Norway, and then to London and Paris, where they will spend several weeks. Dublin, Ireland, will be the last city they will visit before they take a plane for home. The Stella Polaris, once the fabulous yacht built for Kaiser Wilhelm, is now owned by the S. S. Bergen Company of Oslo, and has been converted to a motor ship making luxury cruises. Incidentally, or primarily, Mr. Godwin in his travel is going to shop for delicacies for his Gourmet Shop. The Godwins expect to be back in Carmel sometime in August.

Junipero Mothers' Sale

The Junipero Serra Mothers' Club had worked late Tuesday night getting their stock arranged and before the doors of the Legion Hall opened Wednesday crowds were waiting to get in to the big rummage sale. Mrs. Lawrence Melrose, the general chairman, and her assistants had a big day. Mrs. Roger Gottfried waylaid them as they came in the door, and her table of delectable foods was on the way out in no time. The assortment of attractive aprons and knit things disappeared like magic with Mrs. Clyde Coleman in charge. Mrs. Lawrence Canham had the rummage tables under her expert supervision, and it was here that the customers really went to town. There was an enormous pile of everything to wear, and odds and ends of things to delight the heart of a bargain hunter. One table, presided over by Mrs. Audrey Tetley, was filled with every variety of flowers in pots already for the garden, Mrs. Gunnar Swanson took care of the women who were looking for jewelry, and Mrs. Robert Osborne had her hands full with booklovers and readers of detective yarns. The sale was given for the purpose of raising money for playground equipment.

NEW FILTER PLANT
NOW IN OPERATION

Water from San Clemente Reservoir is now pouring into our new filter plant on the Carmel River, and is being forced through many layers of purifying sand and gravel.

Clear, sparkling water is emerging from the filter's outlets and is flowing into the system's distribution pipes It has already reached the faucets of Carmel but it will be several weeks before filtered water will be gushing from the taps in Monterey and Pacific Grove.

There is a reason for this delay. At the present time there are 100-million gallons of unfiltered water still in storage in Forest Lake, the reservoir for Monterey and Pacific Grove. Before the filtered water can reach the taps it must first displace the unfiltered water in the lake, and this will take a little time.

When the filtered water is flowing freely through the entire system, and when all sediment has been completely eliminated from the pipes, the residents of the Monterey Peninsula will enjoy a clear, sparkling, wholesome water, equal to the finest in any municipality anywhere.

There is going to be a lot of shooting if the enthusiasm of the men who met Monday evening at the office of Hugh Comstock holds out. Mrs. Houghton Auxiliary Speaker

Mrs. Henry S. Houghton, wife of the recently retired head of the Rockefeller Foundation in Peking, who has just come to the Highlands to live, spoke of her memories of forty years in China to the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church, after their monthly luncheon last Wednesday.

Mrs. Houghton held her audience spellbound with her early memories of the bride who went, in 1906, to so strange a country, and of the wife who for four long years heard no word from her husband in a Japanese prison. Mrs. Houghton spoke so easily and with so friendly and intimate a manner that her audience felt that they were living with her in the trials and triumphs, the difficulties and amusements of life in a country whose language and customs were so foreign to her. And it was inspiring to hear of how such missions as that which Dr. Houghton served had improved the health of the Chinese people and how splendidly the women of China had responded to the education and opportunities offered to them by Americans. The head of the school for nurses at the Rockefeller Foundation in Peking is now an American trained Chinese woman.

Girl Scouts

The Girl Scouts and Brownies of the Peninsula will hold their annual international picnic at the Camp of the Whispering Pines in Monterey on Sunday afternoon, the 24 troops with their families congregating at 12:30. The day's activities will begin with eating lunch. Although baskets will be carried, there will be food on sale for the benefit of the Juliet Low World Friendship Fund: mulligan stew, pies, candy, and other delectables, all made by the girls. At 2 o'clock Mrs. A. C. Miller, commissioner of Monterey Peninsula Girl Scouts, will conduct the flag ceremony. Following this, each of the troops will present a 5-minute entertainment, song or dance or skit, each with some international connotation.

Mrs. Greene Changes Her Mind About Cutting Cypress

Residents of Carmel Point are really on their toes these days on the subject of protecting trees, and The Pine Cone telephones have been jangling persistently, because Mrs. Johannah Greene, owner of the old Driftwood house at Carmel Point, set about clearing her view by engaging men to remove four cypress trees that were standing on her property.

Since the trees were between the county road and the beach, The Pine Cone went to work in order to be sure that they were not county trees being destroyed, and got in touch with Charles Vogel, secretary of the county planning commission. The tree proved to belong to Mrs. Greene, but Vogel paid her a call, anyway. Mrs. Greene, who is no tin robust health, and whose long days are spent in her home, expressed herself as surprised at the concern of the neighbors when Mr. Vogel explained their feeling. She was determined not to offend, however, and immediately gave orders that the two remaining cypress trees be left standing. She will see that they are properly pruned and preserved.

Mrs. Greene's co-operative attitude is especially appreciated by Peninsula residents because the land on which the cypresses stand will in the course of time be purchased by the county for inclusion in the Shoreline park.

Mrs. Greene is the mother of Jean Arthur, the moving picture star, who calls this Driftwood house her home, although she is frequently away on professional activities.

Return To Minneapolis

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo H. Wells of Minneapolis, who have been spending a month in Carmel, are leaving for home today, but not before they bought lots for a future home. Mr. and Mrs. Wells came to Carmel first in 1924 to visit a niece, Jeannette Johns, who came here to study with William Silva.

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

By GLENN CLAIRMONTE

The Clothesline Art Show in the Pine Inn Court, which Mr. Richard Norris has organized, will present its third show this weekend when 25 individual Carmel artists will exhibit their work. In line with Mr. Norris' plan to present one ceramist each week, he is now showing figurines by Eve Bell. A new department of the show, beginning now, is a display of art photography by Cole Weston, Francis Whitaker, George Seideneck, George Cain, and George T. C. Smith. During the first outdoor show the purchases were made by tourists, but last weekend Carmel residents bought work by Sam Colburn, Charlotte Morton, Paul Mays, and Phil Nesbitt.

Present in the Court during part of each day will be the caricaturist, Phil Nesbitt, hard at work, and the Personality Sketch artist, James Solt, who will fill orders while visitors drink or dine. At about 3:00 o'clock tomorrow he will paint a portrait of Christine Moorehead's champion cocker spaniel, George My Buddy, while guests look over his shoulder.

Mrs. Carol Howard is the chairman hostess, and the hostesses of the day, this weekend, are Mrs. Maurice Korshet and Stephanie Pontukoff.

The Cabrillo Civic Club of Monterey is making plans to erect a 16-ft. statue of Cabrillo at some point between Pacific Grove and Monterey, overlooking the bay, and expects to have the co-operation of various branches of the club throughout the state. Jo Mora, who is at present too ill to undertake such a commission as the designing of the statue, has estimated that the cost will probably be in the neighborhood of $50,000. He is making inquiries and hopes soon to recommend an artist who will be able to discuss the matter with the club.

Carmel is in danger of losing the Paul A. Beygrau painting of Pal, Carmel's dog who was buried in state at the Forest Theatre on December 10, 1943, with a thousand-pound native rock for a monument. Carmel almost owns this painting —and will truly own it if some Carmel artist will kindly donate a painting of a Carmel scene to pay Ernie Perkins for relinquishing his hold upon it. At the time when Pal was appointed an honorary member of the Tailwaggers' Association, his painting was raffled for a Red Cross benefit and Ernie Perkins won it. After Pal's death, when a public cry went up that the painting should remain in Carmel, King Mederos, the state humane officer, traced it down and secured it from Ernie Perkins who had moved away from Carmel. But the price Ernie named has never been paid, and now Ernie is writing an ultimatum, naming a deadline, and there is danger that Pal's picture may be spirited away again unless the price of a Carmel scene by a local artist can soon be paid.

What are we offered? King Mederos, at present the custodian of the Beygrau painting of Pal, should be contacted right now.

Lucky Boy Gets Permit; Commission Starts on Master Plan

Carmel Planning Commission, after a personal survey at the scene, recommended that the City Council grant the Lucky Boy Market a permit to remodel the store front so as to have an open-air market, with the understanding that the space set aside in the plan for ingress and egress not be used for display purposes, and that if it is used for display purposes, then the planning commission recommends that the city council pass an ordinance prohibiting the use of such space for display purposes.

Other business of the meeting was a recommendation on the part of City Attorney William Hudson that the Planning Commission get started on a master plan for Carmel, and that the commission begin considering what funds they will need for the establishment of such a plan, such as engineers' fees, maps, etc., and present an estimate of their needs to the city council so that provision can be made for Planning Commission expenses in the city budget. Members enthusiastically received the suggestion that they attend meetings of other planning commissions, particularly those of the county planning commission to observe how they work.

McCREERY ADDRESSES LIONS

The regular weekly evening dinner meeting of the Carmel Lions Club was held at the Mission Ranch on Tuesday, and the speaker of the evening was P. A. McCreery, chairman of the city planning commission. He outlined the background of the idea, born in 1940, of establishing a planning commission,and explained that the purpose is to protect Carmel from unwelcome changes as well as to arrange for improvements that will not endanger the character of this community. He invited the business men to communicate any of their ideas on the subject to him or to any other members of the planning commission, which is composed of Miss Clara Kellogg, Ernest Bixler, Herbert Heron, Hurd Comstock, Donald Craig, and Mrs. Talbert Josselyn, as well as the chairman and two ex-officio members, Floyd Adams and Peter Mawdsley.

As a result of the Lions Club golf tournament held last Sunday at Del Monte golf course, awards were made to Mike Balazs for the highest score, a book on Golf After Forty, and to Waldo Hicks for the lowest score, four golf balls.

HEAR HEIFETZ

Among the Carmelites who went to San Francisco to hear the Heifetz concert were Mrs. Carol Edwards, Mrs. Jack Canoles, and June Delight Canoles II, who is majoring in violin.

Editorials...

problems, present and prospective, Carmel jogs along comfortably with total city indebtedness a $5,000 bond issue for fire fighting equipment.

"We don't know how lucky we are," says Mayor Godwin.

Is it luck? Shrewd guidance on the part of City Clerk and Budget Controller Peter Mawdsley, economy on the part of conservative city councils during the war years, and careful planning by the current city council are responsible for the enviable financial position the city now enjoys. Moreover, the city council can share in the credit for the success of the recent school bond election. For had there been heavy obligation in the city government for the tax payers to meet, they might not have been willing to undertake an additional burden in a school building program, sorely needed though it was. As for our Sanitary Board and Chairman Hugh Comstock, who is its oldest member, surely, even the toughest die-hards of the "we should have built an outfall sewer system instead of the reduction plant" faction must be genuinely grateful now for the foresight that led to the building of the present sanitary plant. What chance would the school bonds have had of passing if the citizens had been faced with the cost of building a reduction plant?

We know how lucky we are. And I think most of us are grateful for our "luck."—Wilma Cook.
